Exact and Dun & Bradstreet join forces

Exact introduces E-Risk Management to enable optimization of business decision-making Delft, the Netherlands, April 1, 2010 – Exact, a global solution provider, and Dun & Bradstreet (“D&B”) have joined forces in a partnership in the field of credit risk management. Through Exact Risk Management, Exact customers can now integrate D&B’s commercial information and detailed company credit data enabling them to optimize their business decision-making.

Exact Risk Management is an integrated credit risk management solution providing real-time data integration with D&B, the world’s leading source of commercial information and insight on businesses. By using this solution, new customer records can be created thereby initiating customer life cycles with correct and complete information. Exact Risk Management also allows marketing departments to optimize their efforts through an increased understanding of customer profiles on both local as well as international level.

Exact Risk Management is available for Exact Globe, a solution that integrates the entire financial and administrative infrastructure, and Exact Synergy, a powerful web-based solution that enables business to integrate, manage, control and improve collaboration. All information retrieved from D&B is stored in the Exact application directly. After registering for the E-Risk Management module the account is linked to D&B’s database through a unique identification number.

While developing the credit risk management solution, D&B was a logical partner for Exact. Both parties are confident that the partnership will be mutually beneficial, anticipating a growing need for companies to effectively reduce their risk. Exact Risk Management is available on a global scale.

Marcel van de Sandt, Exact’s Product Management Director, says: “By providing our customers with an integrated E-Risk Management module powered by D&B, we are addressing a core issue for business today. The more effectively firms can manage their credit risk and cash flow, the better their financial position will be."

Jan Willem de Vries, Managing Director at D&B in the Netherlands, says: "As a leading developer of business software solutions, Exact is a perfect partner for D&B, enabling us to anticipate the growing need for companies to integrate up-to-date 'live' risk data in their applications."
